LEATHERMAN'S McKINLEY PARK LAWN GRASS SEED

This is without question the best mixture of grasses to produce quickly a permanent and beautiful lawn. It is a blend of fine-leaved grasses which have been selected to give the lawn a beautiful deep green appearance during the whole of the growing season; some are at their best in the early spring while others come to their best growing seasons at later periods, thus giving the lawn that is seeded with McKinley Park Lawn Seed that much desired deep velvety green texture. A lawn made with our McKINLEY PARK LAWN GRASS will be a source of permanent pleasure and pride. Lb. 35c, 2 1/2 lbs. 85c, 5 lbs. $1.65, 10 lbs. $3.00, 25 lbs. and over @ 28c per lb.

CUCUMBER

One ounce will plant 50 hills. 2 pounds to the acre.

CULTURE—When all danger of frost is past and soil has become warm, plant 8 to 10 seeds hills about 4 feet apart in fairly rich well prepared soil, cover ½ inch, thin out to 3 plants to the hill. Cultivate until plants begin to vine. Keep the vines bearing by gathering the cucumbers as soon as they are ready. For pickles plant in July.

Letherman's Wondergreen

◆ LEATHERMAN'S WONDERGREEN. This wonderful new cucumber is most uniform in shape, size and deep green color, ranging from 10 to 11 inches in length. Its crisp, solid flesh of deliciously cool, refreshing flavor make it most desirable for slicing. In the slicing stage it shows no trace whatever of white stripes at the blossom end, nor any light green color. It is of the darkest green imaginable, and holds this beautiful dark green color for an exceptionally long time after being picked, which, together with its solidity and size, makes it an admirable variety for shipping. For forcing under glass it is fine. For the Market Gardener who wants a money maker and the Home Gardener who wants quality this is The Cucumber. Pkt. 5c, oz. 15c, ¼ lb. 45c, lb. $1.50.

◆ COLORADO. (Award of Merit 1934). Seed available for distribution for the first time from the 1935 crop. An early prolific long slender white spine variety, just the right size, shape and color. CULTURE—Peas do best in fairly rich soil and the cool months. A longer supply may be had by making successive planting. The smooth varieties may be planted as soon as the soil can be prepared; the wrinkled varieties are not so hardy and should be planted later. Plant in rows 2 to 2½ feet apart for the dwarf and 2½ to 3 feet for the tall varieties, covering the seed 1½ to 2 inches, and spacing it about 2 inches apart in the rows. Keep well cultivated and supply moisture if needed. Best results are usually obtained from the early plantings. Gather the pods as soon as they ripen.

We have given the approximate time to the first picking which varies in different seasons and sections; the figures will assist in comparing the relative earliness or lateness of the different varieties.

Inoculating Peas will make the crop earlier, increase the yield and enrich the soil. See page 35.

MAINE GROWN SEED POTATOES

WRITE FOR OUR PRICE LIST

All varieties except the Russet and Jersey Red are grown in the State of Maine from selected seed, under state inspection, in the counties that are said to be the largest producing counties in the country. Seed produced in this climate has bred in it the protection that Nature provides where the growing season is short, crowding into it all the vitality needed to withstand the rigors of the climate. This seed therefore when planted in more moderate sections will produce sturdy, vigorous plants, and earlier and larger yields. It is good business practice for the potato grower to dispose of his entire crop and plant only new Northern Grown Seed.

Cobler

IRISH COBBLER. A fine early variety, producing large handsome tubers of uniform size and shape. A little later than Early Ohio but a heavier yielder. The tubers are nearly round in shape with strong, well-developed eyes. The flesh is white, cooks dry and mealy and of excellent quality; a very good keeper.

SPALDING No. 4 ROSE. This variety was bred out of the old popular Early Rose, but is a much better Potato in every way, it is shorter, thicker and larger. Cooks very dry and mealy and a good keeper. A great yielder of tubers that will average large with very few small ones.

IMPROVED EARLY OHIO. The favorite Potato used for early planting. They are rounded oblong in shape, of good size and uniform. The skin is light pink. Flesh is pure white, cooks dry and mealy, of fine flavor, a good keeper. Vines are hardy, grow upright and the tubers set in a compact clump.

EARLY ROSE. This variety has been a great favorite for many years. Potatoes are oblong in shape, good size, light pink in color, with a thin skin. They cook mealy and are of the finest flavor.

EUREKA EXTRA EARLY. An extremely early and quick maturing variety. A heavy cropper of big White Potatoes. The plant is dwarf and compact and very resistant to blight. Tubers are round, white, and of unsurpassed quality.

EARLY SIX WEEKS. Another very early and fine quality Potato, for those wanting a strain for early home and market use. The tubers are medium to large in size, oval shape, reddish color with shallow eyes.

JERSEY RED. This is a medium late or main crop Potato similar in shape to the well known Early Rose with numerous shallow eyes. The skin is red, and thin. Flesh is snowy white. A heavy yielder, a good keeper and cooks dry and mealy. Of unusually fine quality. A profitable sort for the market gardener and a most desirable one for the home garden.

CARMAN No. 3. A round white Potato of the Rural type and closely resembling it in yield and quality. The Carman is a heavy yielder and good table Potato.

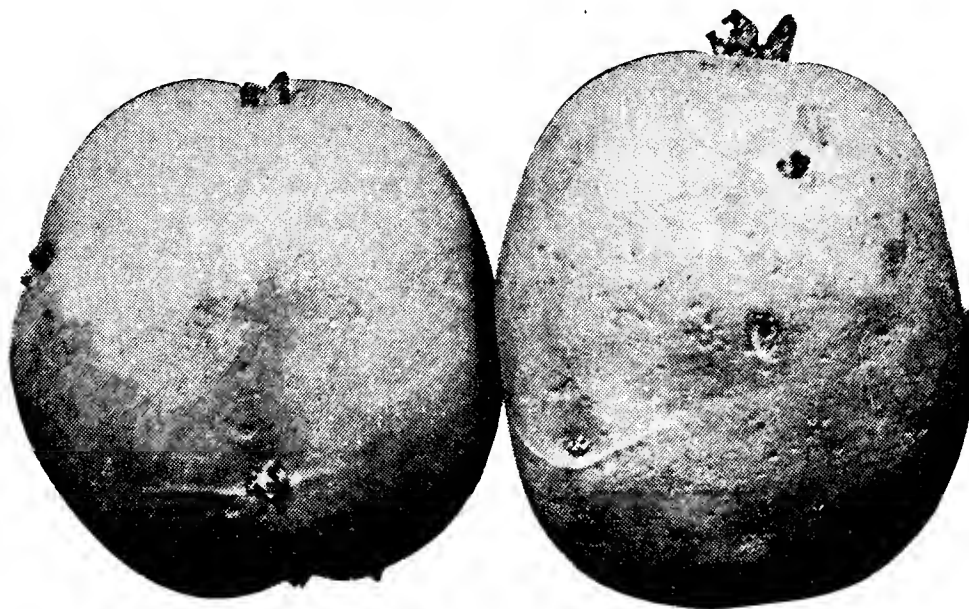

RURAL NEW YORKER. The standard late and main crop Potato for all sections. Always a reliable variety for the main crop and a heavy yielder. Tubers are round and oval in size, skin white. One of the best and longest keepers.

MICHIGAN RUSSETS

Genuine Certified Stock

This Potato has become the standard late variety for commercial and home use. Vines of vigorous upright branching habit with dark green foliage. Tubers rounded, oblong in shape, of good uniform size. Eyes very shallow and few. Skin finely russet, netted, which allows rough handling without damage and prevents shriveling from evaporation, thus making it an exceptionally good keeper. It outyields all other late varieties; 300 bushel yields to the acre are common and often 400 bushels when grown under favorable conditions. Eating quality equal to the best. It will do well in clay, and clay loam soils. Our stock is choice medium size Michigan grown from Pure inspected Certified Seed, free of scab or disease.

We always have Michigan U. S. No. 1's for table use at market prices.

Letherman's "Big Golden" Ensilage Corn

LEATHERMAN'S BIG GOLDEN. Decidedly the best Corn to grow for Ensilage; stalks grow 12 to 15 feet with thick heavy foliage, produces ears 10 to 15 inches long with 18 rows of fine deep broad kernels of rich golden yellow. Big Golden will give better returns on poor or light soils than any other kind and equals in tonnage any of the Southern white varieties. It has proven all we claim for it by actual results obtained by our friends who have planted it.

LANCASTER COUNTY SURE CROP. One of the best general purpose varieties, it has proved its adaptability in every Corn growing section. Grows tall and leafy, ears are long, cob thin with uniform deep kernels of deep reddish yellow; husks easily. Withstands drought and develops ears well to the north; a heavy yielder, matures in 100 to 105 days. Thrives on thin soil and will produce a crop in poor growing seasons. Equally valuable for ensilage or husking.

SWEET FODDER CORN. Best for cutting and feeding green during summer. Very sweet and nutritious. Use $1\frac{1}{2}$ bushels to the acre.

YELLOW SWEEPSTAKES ENSILAGE. Two weeks earlier than white ensilage varieties. Has large broad grain, deep golden color, large ears 12 inches long and sturdy stalks. This corn in tests made over a four year period in eight northern states including Ohio averaged over 16 tons of ensilage per acre.

"HOLCO" ENSILAGE OR BLUE RIDGE. Originated in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia, grown in this high altitude it is earlier than other Southern grown varieties. Grows 14 to 16 feet high and makes heavy thick fodder. Ears are long with deep broad kernels. A vigorous growing prolific variety.

OLD VIRGINIA ENSILAGE. A popular and satisfactory variety. Grows to a large size, is very leafy. Ears large with broad deep kernels.

EUREKA ENSILAGE. Vigorous, grower with large stalks and exceptionally heavy foliage, attains a height of 16 to 18 feet. Ears average about 11 inches long with broad deep kernels; very productive.

OHIO GROWN SEED CORN

EARLY ORANGE DENT. This Corn was originated in northern Ohio, therefore, making it one of the earliest Yellow Dent Field Corns in cultivation. In a normal season this Corn should mature in 90 days. Grows strong, hardy fodder, 7 to 10 feet high. Ears contain 14 to 18 rows of good long grains, on red cob. Its beautiful deep Orange color, earliness and size make it a most profitable variety to grow.

MEDINA PRIDE. An early maturing Yellow Dent Corn. The Ohio Experiment Station Bulletin recommends this variety for practically the whole tier of the eastern counties of Ohio and especially the north-eastern part of the State where high yields of sound Corn have been consistently made. The ears average from 10 to 12 inches in length slightly tapering, with twelve rows of good size kernels.

WHITE CAP YELLOW DENT. This is a popular early variety, and one of the most satisfactory sorts to raise. Succeeds on almost any kind of soil and is a heavy yielder. Ears are about 9 inches long and deep grained. Matures in 85 to 95 days.

OHIO IMPROVED CLARAGE. This Corn originated in Ohio is medium early, maturing in about 100 days. The stalks are of medium size, ears from 7 to 9 inches long, grains wide and very deep on a small cob. The color is a beautiful golden yellow, and the ears are filled to the very tip. Even when the season is late, IMPROVED CLARAGE matures perfectly. The seed we offer is grown from registered seed in the north-central part of Ohio, is carefully selected, and true to type.

FLOWER SEED

To help you grow flowers successfully, we give the following cultural directions for growing every kind of flowers we list.

At the heading of each variety will be found the number of the culture to use. The key letter indicates the Annuals, Biennials, Perennials, etc.

Other valuable information is also given, such as height, time of blooming, range of colors and suitable locations.

Be careful not to cover the seed too deep as this is the most frequent cause of failure; a safe rule is to cover the seed twice its diameter with fine sifted soil, very fine seed should be sown on the surface and pressed into close contact with the soil with a smooth board or brick.

Best results are obtained by the use of a shallow box or flat about 4 inches deep. Cover the bottom with about an inch of cinders, gravel or other rough material to provide drainage, fill to within $\frac{1}{2}$ inch of the top with good light soil that will not bake or form a crust.

By this method moisture can be controlled and seed saved from washing rains. The young tender seedlings may also be protected from too direct exposure to the sun and destruction by insects.

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS FOR GROWING FLOWERS

Culture No. 1. Sow from April until June in the open land. Thin out the seedlings where too thick. In heavy land it is advisable to sow either in flats or hotbed and then plant out in permanent location.

Culture No. 2. Sow in February or March in flats or hotbed. During germinating period medium temperature and moderate watering should be maintained. As soon as the seedlings can be handled, prick off and later set out in permanent location.

Culture No. 3. Sow from March until May in flats or hotbed. Give plenty of water and when the seedlings can be handled put out in permanent location. Seed can also be sown in April or May in the open land and thinned out where too heavy.

Culture No. 4. Sow from March on, in a hotbed, pots or flats in a mixture of good loam with some sand and compost added. Careful ventilation must be given in order that the seedlings become well hardened off. The planting in the open may be made the first of May.

Culture No. 5. Sow from February until April in pots or flats in a light soil mixture and hold in a moderate temperature, lightly covered. The seedlings should be pricked off and replanted in May or June in pots or permanent outside position.

Culture No. 6. Sow from February to April in flats or hotbed watering but moderately. Germination usually takes from three to four weeks. Seedlings should be pricked off and planted out in May or June.

Culture No. 8. Sow in pots or flats from February until April, in a mixture of compost, sod and sand of equal parts. Considerable bottom heat should be given. The seed should be pressed in lightly and then covered with a newspaper. As soon as possible prick off the seedlings into flats. Harden off slowly and plant in the open after the middle of May.

Culture No. 10. The best time for sowing is from February to April in hotbed, pots or flats, using a good rich, moderately heavy soil with which considerable sand has been mixed. Sow the seed thin and press down lightly. Water thoroughly with a fine spray and cover the seed with newspaper. Give moderate bottom heat until the seedlings appear. Shade the seedlings lightly and water again. Watering should be done from now on only when the seedlings become quite dry, otherwise they will damp off. Transplanting into the open can take place from April on. For pot culture, put 6 to 8 plants in a pot. It has been noted that the strong growing seedlings are usually single, the weaker growers producing the double blooms.

Culture No. 12. Sow from June to September in hotbed or flats. The seed should be well watered and shaded and great care must be taken that the surface does not dry, otherwise the germination will be greatly effected. Prick off and plant out in September or October in the open land.

Culture No. 13. Sow in flats from April until July. At first keep well watered and shaded. When the seedlings are large enough to be handled plant out from August to October in their permanent location.

Culture No. 14. Sow in July or August in flats or pots. Leave outside until the soil has been thoroughly frozen and then bring into a warm house. Prick off and later plant in the open. Many hard coated seeds will not germinate before the following spring.

Culture No. 15. Sow in the Fall in flats or cold frame. Water carefully and keep beds shaded. Germination will take place usually the following spring. When sufficiently strong the seedlings should be set out in the open.

Culture No. 16. Sow from March to October in cold frame or flats, watering but moderately. The germination is very slow and often takes from 4 to 6 months. When sufficiently large the seedlings can be planted in the open ground. In many cases moss will appear on the surface of the beds. This should not be removed but a thin layer of soil evenly distributed over it.

Culture No. 17. Sow from January to July in pots or flats in a mixture of compost, loam and sand. The seed should be well watered and kept in a very warm temperature. As soon as the seedlings can be handled they should be pricked off into a similar soil mixture and later potted up or set out.

Culture No. 18. Sow from January until March in flats in a mixture of well pulverized sod and sand. The seed should not be covered but pressed into the soil, moderately watered and kept in a warm temperature. Pick off seedlings and later plant in pots or in the open ground.

Culture No. 20. Sow in July or August in flats in a sandy loam and keep well shaded. The seedlings should be pricked off in September or October singly in small pots and allowed to stay outside until frost. In winter bring into bloom in a cold house.

Culture No. 21. Sow either in August or from December to February in pots or flats in well rotted sod or leaf mold keeping in a moderate temperature and well watered. Prick off the seedlings and later pot up singly. Shift into larger pots and winter over in a cold house.

Culture No. 23. Sow from February to May in flats in a sandy loam in a warm house. Prick off the seedlings into pans later potting up in a light soil. The soil mixture should be composed of one part sand, two parts compost and two parts well rotted hotbed soil and manure which has been put thru a small screen.

Culture No. 24. Sow from March until June in flats in a sandy loam. Flats must be kept shaded, warm and well watered in order to get an even germination. Prick off as soon as possible into shallow flats and later into small pots, shifting up into larger pots as required. During growing period it is advisable that waterings with diluted manure water be given, particularly during bud formation.

Culture No. 25. Sow from January until May in flats in a sandy compost or hotbed. Sod, leaf mold nor peat cannot be used. The flats should be kept in a warm house, shaded and well watered. Germination period is approximately from 3 to 4 weeks. Prick off as soon as possible into flats containing a similar soil mixture. Later put up in a heavier soil and winter over in a cold frame.

Culture No. 27. Sow from March until June in the open ground in rows or broadcast in light soil thinly sown, in heavier soil the seed must be put in thicker. Where the seedlings are too thick, they must be thinned out.

Culture No. 29. Sow from February to April in hotbed or flats, in good rich loam. Sow thin and after germination keep well ventilated to prevent damping off. From April on the seedlings may be transplanted into open ground. Pricking off the seedlings is advisable but not necessary.

Culture No. 31. Sow from March to May in hotbed, pots or flats using a mixture of rich earth and sand, moderate heat. The seedlings should be pricked off into a heavier soil and may be planted out in a sunny location after June first.

Culture No. 32. Sow in May in flats in a mixture of compost, hotbed earth and sand keeping the flats either in the hotbed or warm room with ample light. If sown thin the seedlings can be transplanted directly into a well prepared bed. If desirable to save effort, the seed can be sown directly into a well prepared bed at any time after the middle of May, thinning out to proper distance.

Culture No. 33. Sow from January until April in flats in a mixture of loam and sand. Press the seed down and lightly cover and thoroughly water. Prick off as soon as the seedlings can be handled and later put up singly.

Culture No. 36. Sow thinly in March and April in hotbed, frames or pots and water evenly. The best results are obtained with a mixture of compost and some sand. When the seedlings are up ample ventilation must be given and after the middle of May they can be planted in the open or in pots.

Culture No. 38. Best sowed from March to April in moderate heat in a sandy hotbed or flats. As soon as the seedlings can be handled they should be planted singly in little pots and hardened off gradually. About the middle of May they may be planted in their permanent location.

Culture No. 39. Sow from January until March in pots or flats in a well prepared mixture of two-thirds screened sod and the balance sand and loam. Firm the surface well, press seed in lightly and thoroughly water with a fine hose. Proper control of warmth and moisture is most necessary. As soon as the seedlings can be handled they should be pricked off into other flats containing the same soil mixture.

Culture No. 41. For early blooms sow seed in July or August in flats or pots in light moist soil, covering the seed lightly (about twice its diameter) firming the soil with a smooth board. Water thoroughly with a fine spray; cover the flats with glass or newspaper until seed germinates. Transplant seedlings as soon as they can be handled, either in a cold frame or a protected place to winter over. Do not let the soil become dry as this is fatal. May also be started indoors in very early spring and transplanted outside for later blooming. Pansies like a cool, moist location and good rich soil.

Culture No. 42. To obtain success sow the seed as early in the spring as the soil can be worked so that the vines make their growth and begin to bloom before hot weather. They require plenty of moisture and fertility about the roots. Dig a trench 12 inches deep refilling it to within about 6 inches with soil to which has been added rotted manure, compost or any other humus material, if the soil is poor; add lime or wood ashes if acid. Sow the seed on top of this covering it with an inch of soil. As the plants grow fill in the trench around them until the level has been reached, this will insure the roots being deep enough to resist hot, dry weather. Thin out if necessary so that plants are 4 to 6 inches apart; support with netting or strings. Sweet Peas like an open sunny location. Keep flowers picked to extend blooming period.
